

OUR WINE LIST

Ours is a small and uncomplicated list. We feature our favourite wine styles from around the world, with a distinctive New Zealand focus.

For the explorers amongst you we introduced, in mid-2015, the Coravin system to offer more unknown or rarer wines by the glass. This system works by displacing wine in the bottle with argon gas, without having to remove the cork. This means your wine will arrive at your table in the optimal condition — safe from premature exposure to oxygen, while allowing us to serve it by the glass.

If you have questions about our wine list in general, our Coravin wines or would like a recommendation with your meal, please do not hesitate to start up a conversation with us. We love talking about wine!

*"Water assumes cooking colours as the sun
Directs the unwilling downcast clouds
To pattern it constantly in change
They call the sun a hotted kitchen range"*

THE MAGIC OF BLENDS

It took the hands of humans, coupled with advances in research to isolate the grape varieties that provide the structure for so many modern wine lists; this one included. But vinous history is not a tale that can be told by varietal. It is one of land, customs, tradition, and counter to today's trends, it is one of blends. As modern day wine marches towards transparency right down to clonal distinction, we aim to celebrate the new, along with the old. This page is comprised of wines that do not fit neatly into section defined by grape variety; the wines that stand a chance of being looked over in favour of ease. These wines truly are greater than the sum of their parts.

CHAMPAGNE TAITTINGER

"Taittinger, in my eyes, is an oasis. Our rocks are a family, a history. Our coconuts are the best grapes. Our water is the best juice. Every day, I am trying to elaborate Taittinger as the last reliable, sexy and pleasant thing on earth. A wine to lift you in heaven and make you stay there!"

NOBLE NOTES

Pierre Taittinger had fallen in love with the Château and vineyards that comprise the modern day estate well before he purchased it in 1932. That initial passion that inspired Pierre to settle in Champagne has persisted through the generations; it is, after all, the last Grande Marque Champagne house to remain family owned and operated.

The strong backbone of these wines lends them to a wide array of fare including richer and more wholesome items; an obvious choice for a kitchen that works so harmoniously with bold flavours and wood fire.

NOBLE NOTES

Bubbles in your wine can arise from several different methods, resulting in quite different flavours. Méthode Traditionelle (the Champagne method) derives its bubbles from a second fermentation that happens in the bottle, after which the wine is aged for years on the fermentation lees to gain the classic complex, toasty, brioche aromas and creaminess on the palate. Prosecco's bubbles arise from fermentation in large tanks for a much shorter period before being bottled, which is why it is much fruitier and fresher without toastiness.

NOBLE NOTES

The Spiritual home of New Zealand's most popular white wine variety is Central France's Loire Valley. This is where villages like Sancerre, Pouilly Fume, Quincy and Reuilly produce some of the world's best examples of this variety. Sauvignon Blanc from the Loire sees wines with beautiful mineral lines, racy acid, citrus and soft green herbs and wonderful texture.

NOBLE NOTES

Where Pinot Gris is a lighter-skinned blue-pink mutation derived from Pinot Noir, Pinot Blanc is a green-yellow mutation derived from Pinot Gris. One step further removed from the original variety, it is less spicy, more textural and with crisp apple flavours. Think unoaked Chardonnay with a crispness, and you'll be in Pinot Blanc territory. Perfect with seafood.

NOBLE NOTES

Orange wine is all the craze in wine bars from London to Tokyo, New York to Sydney, but what is it? Quite simply, it is white wine that has been made by fermenting on the grape skins for extended periods, much like how you would make a red wine. This results in a wine with a much darker colour, often hints of spicy oxidation, richer flavours and distinctive dry, grippy tannins usually only found in reds. Savoury and rich, they call out for food!

Quinta do Crasto , Crasto Superior, 2014, Douro, PT				48
Sottimano , Nebbiolo, Langhe, 2015, Piemonte, IT				92

NOBLE NOTES

The region of Beaujolais offers a myriad of stylistic iterations of the Gamay grape, from the powerful and finessed to the juicy and perfumed. With low tannin and opulent fruit, the latter style can offer an excellent alternative to a rich white or rosé. For a bit of palate rejuvenation, opt for the Château de Grand Pré 2016 chilled. The cooler temperature focuses the fruit and structure, and makes it terrific for food matching.

Château Lagrange , Pomerol, 2015, Bordeaux, FR	-	-	-	145

NOBLE NOTES

Cabernet Franc often gets overlooked alongside its more famous bedfellows Cabernet Sauvignon and Merlot but it is widely planted across the world and produces wines full of heady strawberry and cedar aromatics, fine structure and supple tannins.

Grenache & Mourvèdre Dominant

LISTED FROM MEDIUM TO FULL BODIED ↕

	g	½g	½B	B
Domaine de la Charbonnière , Côtes-du-Rhône, 2017, Southern Rhône, FR	11	5.5	33	60

Clos St.-Jean , Châteauneuf-du-Pape, 2012, Rhône, FR	-	-	-	134

NOBLE NOTES

Most recognised as contributing to the famous blends of the Southern Rhône and some of Spain's greatest wines, Grenache gifts gorgeous bright and crunchy red fruits, spice and juiciness. Mourvèdre on the other hand plays a more savoury role with wines full of rustic, leathery spice, dried herbs and dark fruits aromatics, fine structure and supple tannins. They are wines with a serious side but also a flirtatious edge.

Syrah & Shiraz Dominant

LISTED FROM FRUIT-DRIVEN TO SAVOURY ↕

Cedalion , Sam Harrop, Syrah, 2015, Waiheke Island, NZ	20	10	57	109

NOBLE NOTES

Syrah and Shiraz are the same grape variety. Syrah cuttings were taken from the hills of Hermitage in the Northern Rhône of France to South Australia where it was given a new name. Eventually a new style of wine emerged. Classically, “cool-climate” Syrah is perfumed with hints of white pepper, whereas Shiraz is rich and sweet with black pepper.
